

New Bond Street

Book and Print Shop

Location: London
Completion Date: September 2008
Construction Value: Confidential

Client: Other Criteria
Structural Engineer: Julian Graham
Contractor: 8oo Group

The new Bond St shop for 'Other Criteria' was conceived as a pure white space - the standard gallery presentation for most forms of art - but where the white walls and floor were fashioned out of flawless marble rather than prosaic materials like plasterboard and paint.

This intrinsic level of quality is carried right through to details like the carved marble picture rail and the dark African red and black marble in the entrance lobby. The depth and lustre of the marble, with very faint veins barely visible, gives the space a precious feel carefully chosen to complement the works on sale which range from jewellery to original works by Damien Hirst and other artists.

